New Blends: om, nt

Lesson: Periods & Exclamation Points

Period = Breathe
Exclamation Point = Surprise!

If you see a dot at the end of the word (point to dot on next page), take a breath! This is called a period and means "I'm done" saying an idea.

If you see a line above the dot (point to exclamation point), "surprise!" This is called an exclamation point. It means something surprising or exciting happened.

Find the Surprise!

Explain to the child that you will read the words on the next page (slide your finger under the words as you read). If you point to an exclamation point, the child throws up their hands in the air and yells "surprise!" Next, have the child read the sentences.
